"Faithful Unto Death."

True to the very end to the sweetheart of her girlhood, Miss Martha O'Bryan, member of a prominent Tennessee family and devoted church worker, is dead here, aged 74 years.
Her hero was Capt. John Yates Beall, a Virginian hanged February 24, 1865, on Governors' Island as a Confederate spy.

The above dispatch from Nashville recalls one of the saddest episodes of the great war of 1861-65, and the Washington Post interestingly sketches it as follows:

"Beall and this woman were betrothed, and she was his virgin widow to the end.

Of all the heroes of our revolution of '76, where is one second to Nathan Hale? John Yates Beall was one of the two Nathan Hales of the South—the other the youth Sam Davis.

Beall's enterprise was an inspiration worthy of Artagan. How nearly it came of success is matter of conjecture; but had it prospered there is no doubt that every city on the lakes from Buffalo to Milwaukee would have been laid under tribute by this new Paul Jones, and thousands of Confederate prisoners, desperate men, released, armed and mounted, would have carried terror, mayhap fire and sword over the new Middle West.

That the scheme nearly succeeded is unquestionable; but the warship Michigan was, as by miracle, saved from the clutch of Beall and his hardy crew. Beall went to his scaffold and died as did Hale and Andre and Sam Davis, the death of a spy.

"There is a story that John Yates Beall and John Wilkes Booth were bosom friends, that the actor 'moved heaven and earth' to secure from the president the pardon of his friend or the commutation of his sentence, that it was without avail, and that Booth determined on the most momentous crime of American history, which in his madness he consummated."

Death in Roaring Fire.

May not result from the work of firebugs, but often severe burns are caused that make a quick need for Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the quickest surest cure for burns, wounds, bruises, boils, sores. It subdues inflammation. It kills pain. It soothes and heals. Drives off skin eruptions, ulcers or piles. Only 25c at all druggists.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 30 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Denham F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs.
It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.
